

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Elyzabeth Marcussen, 443-837-1559

emarcussen@hospicechesapeake.org

Awards highlight a week of celebrating volunteers at Hospice of the Chesapeake

(PASADENA, MD, April 25, 2019) — With approximately 400 volunteers to thank during National Volunteer Appreciation Week, Hospice of the Chesapeake pulled out all the stops by inviting them to five different celebrations during the week of April 7. There were two breakfasts, a wellness lunch, an ice cream social and a happy hour complete with a blues band and an awards ceremony.

At the awards event, which took place at the Knights of Columbus's Boswell Hall in Bowie on April 11, six of the eight award recipients were in attendance, each filled with emotion as they learned of the honor they received.

The first three awards were presented by Chesapeake Life Center team members. Each of the volunteers were honored for their commitment to the individuals and families served by the bereavement program. Carol Fritz of Annapolis received the Dedicated Service Award, Bill Malicki of Annapolis received the Making A Difference Award and Denise Brown of Severna Park receiving the Shining Star Award.

The other five award recipients acknowledged the work of patient care volunteers, healing arts volunteers and administrative support volunteers. They included Dedicated Service Award recipient Ed Allen of Cheverly, Making A Difference Award recipient Linda Murphy of Glen Burnie, David William Malicki Veteran's Award recipient Akasha Lowry of Crofton, Above and Beyond Award recipient Meredith Lowman of Elkridge and Going the Distance Award recipient Dianne Doolan of Davidsonville.

Director of Volunteer Services Mary Jermann, who has a unique perspective as an avid volunteer and as the leader of the team, shared her message of gratitude for the moments of love that all of the volunteers shared with others throughout their end-of-life experience.

President and CEO Ben Marcantonio also expressed gratitude, pointing out that as a nonprofit hospice and palliative care organization, the importance of its volunteer corps cannot be emphasized enough. He pointed to the four volunteers who, inspired by the work of Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, established as Arundel Hospice in 1979 with just four patients on its census. Their work as volunteers forever changed healthcare in our community. Forty years later, Hospice of the Chesapeake has served 42,138 patients, with the help of more than 5,200 volunteers.

There are many ways one can serve as a volunteer for the nonprofit – from companionship and comfort to outreach and administrative work. To find out more, visit www.hospicechesapeake.org/join-us, email joinus@hospicechesapeake.org or call 410-987-2003.

High resolution photos available upon request.

Hospice of the Chesapeake recently presented awards to several Volunteers during its Volunteer Appreciation Week Happy Hour held April 11 at Boswell Hall in Bowie. Pictured from left are Director of Volunteer Services, Mary Jermann; award recipients Akesha Lowry of Crofton; Bill Malicki of Annapolis; Denise Brown of Severna Park; Carol Fritz of Annapolis, Meredith Lowman of Elkridge; and Linda Murphy of Glen Burnie, and President and CEO Ben Marcantonio. Not pictured are award recipients Ed Allen of Cheverly and Dianne Doolan of Davidsonville. Photo by Elyzabeth Marcussen, Hospice of the Chesapeake

Hospice of the Chesapeake President and CEO Ben Marcantonio thanks the volunteers before awards are presented at the Volunteer Appreciation Week Happy Hour held April 11 at Boswell Hall in Bowie.

Volunteers Bill and Rose Lovelace cut a rug at the Volunteer Appreciation Week Happy Hour held April 11 at Boswell Hall in Bowie. Photo by Elyzabeth Marcussen, Hospice of the Chesapeake

Steve and Iris Latsios of Annapolis enjoy the spread from Romilo’s Restaurant in Severna Park at the Volunteer Appreciation Week Happy Hour held April 11 at Boswell Hall in Bowie. Photo by Elyzabeth Marcussen, Hospice of the Chesapeake

###

For 40 years, Hospice of the Chesapeake has been caring for life throughout the journey with illness and loss. For more information, please visit www.hospicechesapeake.org.