

“Hospice of the Chesapeake’s supportive care has helped me learn to live my best life with advancing congestive heart failure. You’ve given me and my family the priceless gift of more good days, fewer bad days, and fewer crises that might land me in the emergency room.”

— HELEN, A GRATEFUL PATIENT

Your gift matters to people like Helen. It means their long battle with a life-limiting illness does not have to be exhausting, lonely, and depressing.

With your help, we can be there to help with the stress of an initial diagnosis, throughout challenging curative treatments, when a cure is no longer possible, and when loved ones need grief and loss support. We provide a full continuum of care to support each patient’s best quality of life as conditions change.

Thank you for supporting your hometown, non-profit hospice!
