Workshops

Nature Informed Therapy 4-Week Workshop
Nature has a great power to heal us emotionally, and research backs this up. Time spent in natural settings can lower stress hormones and reduce feelings of anxiety and depression, along with offering many other benefits. Join us for this support group series, which will include immersive walks in nature, time spent focusing on the cycle of the seasons, and working with natural objects to both contain and express the grief experience.

Grief Support and Education

2nd Quarter 2024

Remembering Our Mothers
This group is for adult children who have lost their mom. Participants will get together to connect, share memories of their mother or maternal figure, and personalize a picture frame! This is just in time for Mother’s Day on May 12.
*Please bring in a 5X7 picture of your mom/maternal figure.

Largo Office
May 2
6:30 pm - 8:00 pm
$20

Soles of Grief: Walk a Mile in These Shoes
Grief has often been described as a journey. In the walk through grief, shoes can be thought of as offering protection and grounding as the griever moves through difficult times. Join us for a family-oriented workshop where we will artfully adorn sneakers to illustrate and express our grief experiences and honor special persons we have lost. Chesapeake Life Center will be working in partnership with Soles of Imagination (https://www.solesofimagination.org/) to offer this unique event.

Register early—space is limited! (Please register at least one week in advance of the date to ensure supplies are ready for you and your family.) Open to adults and children over age 6 years who have experienced a loss through death.

Fee includes sneakers and all supplies needed to decorate the shoes, along with light fare for the evening.

Good Grief & Game Night
Join us for an evening of family fun and healing through games and shared camaraderie for adults and children of all ages. This curated event aims to help in the grief journey, inspire laughter, share memories, creative expression, and provide a few hours of respite.

Pasadena Campus
June 6
6:00 pm - 7:30 pm
$10

Parenting While Grieving
This group will be offered at the same time as Stepping Stones, our children's grief program for 6-18 year olds and is open to any parent who is grieving a loss. Join fellow parents for fellowship and support around the challenges of parenting while grieving a loss. Please reference page 4 for more information on Stepping Stones.

Grief & Poetry Workshop
Poetry serves as a cathartic tool, offering solace and a unique outlet for navigating the complexities of grief. Join us for a reading and writing workshop, where we will explore the nuanced layers of loss through poetry. This workshop provides a supportive space to channel emotions, share, and connect with others on similar journeys. In this immersive session, poems will become vessels for healing and self-discovery.
